

The Durant Census of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan. Part 5, The Payment Roll.

Larry M. Wyckoff
2017

This is part five of a series of six reports on the creation of a census of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan for the payment of a U.S. Court of Claims settlement for claims under the treaties of March 28, 1836 and July 31, 1855. See: The Durant Census of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan. Part 1, The 1870 Payment Roll for a history of this claim.

Once agent Horace Durant completed his field notes, containing the descendants of each name on the 1870 payment roll, he created a census roll of all those descendants living on March 4, 1907. The census was completed on October 27, 1909 and was approved by the Secretary of the Interior on February 18, 1910. The census initially contained the names of 7396 individuals. After corrections for double enrollments, the number was reduced to 7384 persons.

The various Ottawa and Chippewa chiefs and headmen protested the inclusion of any mixed-bloods, or their descendants, on the census roll who were not on the 1870 payment roll. Durant indicated those mixed-blood individuals by a red check mark on his census roll. Descendants who were enrolled with other tribes, and receiving benefits from them, were also noted on the census roll with a blue check mark.

In a report to the Secretary of the Interior, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that those mixed-bloods protested against should be excluded from sharing in the payment. He suggested that those individuals on the census roll who were receiving rights from other tribes (those marked with a blue check mark) also be excluded from the payment.

After those deductions, 5442 members of the tribe living on March 4, 1907, and therefore entitled to share in the judgment of the Court of Claims, and also the names of 202 children born after that date, and prior to August 1, 1908, the date of completing the census roll in the field, were approved to share in the payment of the funds due from the 1855 treaty. This made a total of 5644 individuals approved for payment.

The sum of $105,758.69 from the Court of Claims settlement was disbursed to 5442 members of the tribe at a per capita rate of $19.43. The $9,786.69 sum from the 1855 treaty was paid to the 5442 members of the tribe plus 202 children born after the Court of Claims settlement, at a per capita rate of $1.74. In order distribute the entire amount of money, with nothing left to be returned to the Treasury, the per capita amounts were adjusted as shown below:

Nos. 1-3379, inclusive were paid	$21.16
Nos. 3380-3387, inclusive were paid	21.17
Nos. 3388-5442, inclusive were paid	21.18
Nos. 5443-5644, inclusive (being the 202 children referred to) were paid	1.74

Charles H. Dickson, the Supervisor of Indian Schools at Flandreau, South Dakota, was assigned the duty of making this payment to the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan. The majority of the payments were made in 1910 with a few carried over into 1911.

A transcription of the payment roll is shown below. An index of the names contained on this roll and the original census roll can be found in Part 2 of this series (The Durant Census of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan. Part 2, Durant Field Notes Index).¹
